WHO AM I ANYWAY?

the INTRODUCTION

I am a marketer. I graduated from ASU with my Bachelors of Science degree in Marketing and use it skillfully to market my client's homes. From working for Arizona Foothills Magazine to multiple corporate and agency roles, I have leveraged my skills and understanding of marketing and analytics to provide real results for my clients. Any agent can post a home on the MLS, but not all can properly provide the most diversified exposure with viable analytics.

I am a top producer. I have been recognized in the Arizona real estate industry as a top performer for many years and also won the Scottsdale's Association of Realtors 40 Under 40 Award.

I am dedicated professional. Since I was a young girl I always told myself I wanted to make an impact in others lives as a career. Selling a home is a very pivotal moment for most families. I specialize in helping first time home sellers reach goals and save money. Many commend me for the level of education and resources I provide along with my level of care and advocacy.

WHY NAUDIA?

the TESTIMONIALS

"The best part of my job is helping others accomplish their goals and leverage real estate for their future." -Naudia

14267 E Harmony Lane, Fountain Hills, AZ 85268

Sales Price: $2,150,000

It was such a pleasure having Naudia as our realtor. Everything went so smoothly. She kept us informed and always had our backs. She went above and beyond to get our house sold and negotiate with a difficult buyer's agent. I would highly recommend her to anyone needing to list their home or in buying one. - Liz and Kees R.

11012 W Lane Avenue, Glendale, AZ

Sold Price: $400,000

Naudia seriously over exceeded our expectations in selling our home. After having a not so good experience the first time we listed, I was hesitant to try again. Naudia made us feel like her marketing approach would be different and from the moment her video was made and it hit the market, we couldn't believe the overwhelming interest of 5 offers within the weekend. No showings that we had to do and overall such a 360 of a difference. She did everything to maximize our sale and went above what I had expected. Her & her whole team were the BEST!!! - Erika & Ryan F.

5107 E Terry Drive, Scottsdale, AZ 85254

Sold Price: $615,000

I can't thank Naudia enough for her help with my family's home sale. It meant a lot that she was able to help sell my parent's home due to their divorce and do so with grace. Not only did she help make smart solutions but was able to help my parents see eye to eye to get the home closed. I was nervous about handing over this situation, but my parent's can't say enough great things about Naudia. Thank you SO much Naudia for making this so easy on all of us. - Lauren M.

Word-of-Mouth Marketing

This approach capitalizes on the strength of personal endorsements and trust. Experiential marketing is crucial for selling real estate because it creates memorable interactions that resonate with potential buyers, making properties more appealing. For example, cold calling can personalize outreach, block parties and massive open houses turn property viewings into a social experience, and broker opens specifically target real estate professionals, leveraging their network and influence to attract interested buyers. These strategies not only showcase properties but also build a sense of community and trust, crucial elements in the real estate purchasing process.

the CONTINGENCIES

01.

INSPECTION PERIOD

The inspection period is a buyer's opportunity to thoroughly assess the property's condition, typically lasting 7-10 days. During this time, the buyer can negotiate repairs, request concessions, or even cancel the contract if significant issues are uncovered 02.

APPRAISAL

The appraisal is a professional evaluation of the property's market value, typically required by the buyer's lender to ensure the home is worth the agreed-upon price. If the appraisal comes in lower than expected, it may lead to renegotiation of the price or terms of the sale.

03.

DISCLOSURE

It is a long-established fact that a reader will be distracted by the readable content of a page when looking at its layout.

04.

LOAN

A loan contingency protects the buyer by making the purchase dependent on securing financing from a lender within a specified timeframe. If the buyer is unable to obtain a loan, the contingency allows them to cancel the contract without penalty and recover their earnest money.

the DUTIES

01.

DISCLOSE ALL MATERIAL FACTS

Sellers are legally required to disclose all known material facts about the property that could affect its value or desirability, such as structural issues or past damages. Failing to disclose important information can lead to legal consequences and jeopardize the sale.

02.

KEEP THE PROPERTY INSURED

Sellers must maintain insurance coverage on the property until the sale is officially closed to protect against potential damages or liabilities. Allowing insurance to lapse before closing could put the transaction at risk and create financial liabilities for the seller 03.

KEEP UTILITES ON UNTIL CLOSING

Sellers are responsible for keeping utilities (water, gas, and electricity) on during the entire sale process to allow inspections, appraisals, and walkthroughs to proceed smoothly. Turning off utilities can cause delays and potential contract issues, so it's important to keep them active until closing.

04.

PROVIDE ACCESS

Sellers must provide reasonable access to the property for inspections, appraisals, and buyer walkthroughs as part of the sale process. Denying access can delay the transaction and potentially breach the sales contract.t.

05.

PREPARE TO BE SHOW READY

Every buyer that sees your home matters. The more showings we can get, the more opportunities we have for offers! Please make sure to keep your home show ready to receive the best feedback and best opportunities for buyer conversion.

the LISTING DOCS

THE DOCUMENTS THAT ALLOW ME TO LIST YOUR HOME

Ihe Arizona Association of Realtors (AAR) Exclusive Right to Sell agreement is a legally binding document used by real estate professionals to formalize the relationship between a seller and their listing agent. This contract gives the listing agent exclusive rights to market and sell the property for a specified period of time. In this arrangement, the seller agrees to pay the agent a commission if the property is sold, regardless of who finds the buyer. The document clearly outlines the terms of the listing, including the listing price, commission structure, and the duties of both the seller and the agent. It's designed to protect both parties by providing clarity on the expectations and responsibilities involved in the sale of the property.

the DISCLOSURES

WE WILL NEED THESE WITHIN 3 DAYS OF CONTRACT ACCEPTANCE

In Arizona, the Seller's Property Disclosure Statement (SPDS) is a critical document that homeowners are required to complete when selling their property. It provides potential buyers with essential information about the condition of the home and any known issues. As the seller, you are legally obligated to disclose any material facts about the property that could affect its value or desirability. This includes details about the property's structure, roof, plumbing, electrical systems, appliances, and any past repairs or damage. You'll also need to disclose environmental factors, like flooding or pest infestations, and whether the property is located in a special tax district.

When filling out the SPDS, it's important to be honest and thorough, even if the buyer may not ask about certain issues. Failing to disclose known defects can result in legal consequences after the sale. If you're unsure about certain aspects of the property's history or condition, it's advisable to consult your real estate agent or an attorney for guidance. The document is designed to protect both parties by ensuring transparency throughout the transaction, so taking the time to complete it accurately is essential for a smooth closing process.

the INSURANCE CLAIMS

WE WILL NEED THESE WITHIN 5 DAYS OF CONTRACT ACCEPTANCE

Why Sellers in Arizona Should Provide Claims History for Their Residential Property When selling your home in Arizona, transparency is key to building trust with potential buyers. Providing a comprehensive claims history can significantly enhance your sale process. This record outlines any past insurance claims related to the property, including issues like water damage, fire incidents, or storm-related repairs. Buyers are increasingly savvy and often request this information to assess the property's risk and their future insurance costs. A clear claims history can alleviate concerns, demonstrating that you've maintained the home well and addressed any issues promptly. Moreover, disclosing claims history can help avoid potential legal disputes after the sale, fostering a smoother transaction. By being upfront about your property's history, you not only comply with Arizona's disclosure laws but also position yourself as a responsible seller, ultimately attracting more serious buyers and potentially increasing your home's market value.

the SHOWINGS

By appointment only

You will get notifications based off your communication preferences. Alligned showings will send you a notification directly for every showing that you can decline, approve or suggest a different time. All notifications will update you directly!

Secure lockbox

We use a supra lockbox that allows us to control who comes and goes and notifies us when the lockbox is opened and closed.

Pre qualified buyers

The buyers coming through your house will be pre qualifed ready, willing and able buyers that have a signed agreement to see houses with their agent!

Scheduled window

Most agents schedule a 30 minute window for showings and come within their allowed window. Please step out for all showings unless noted otherwise.

the FOLLOW UP

Mondays – Feedback Email

Every Monday I send a detailed report with all feedback from showings, activity and results from our marketing efforts.

Wednesdays – Check In Call

On Wednesdays you will hear from me to go over any of the next steps I think necessary to get your house sold and to review where we're at in the market and or if there's been any changes to comps

Friday – Prep for Weekend

Friday I prepare for the weekend of showings and or open houses. We're confirming appointments, reverse prospecting and making sure everything is good to go for the weekend.

the FEES

Listing Agent Fee

You pay a listing agent because they provide invaluable services that maximize your home's market exposure and ensure a smooth transaction. A listing agent helps you price your property correctly based on market data, creates a tailored marketing strategy, professionally stages and photographs your home, and negotiates offers to get you the best deal. They also manage all the paperwork, contracts, and deadlines, helping you avoid costly mistakes and ensuring a seamless selling process.

Buyers Agent Fee

As a seller you do not have to pay a buyers agent fee. All fees are negotiable and the choice is yours. Buyers agents are now required to sign written agreements with thier agent and a commission is agreed upon within this agreement.

Offer A Commission

If you decide to offer compensation to a buyers agent we set the fee up front and let agents know what we're offering prior to showing. This opens your home up to the largest buyer pool as buyers who can not afford to pay thier agent directly

Offer No Commission

If you decide not to offer a commission up front the buyer can either pay their agent directly for the commission due or they can try to negotiate it as part of their offer.

Open To Compensation

If you decide not to offer a commission up front the buyer can either pay their agent directly for the commission due or they can try to negotiate it as part of their offer.
